

SAVE THE DATE and RESERVE YOUR SPOT NOW!!!

HENDRICKS CO. MASTER GARDENERS PRESENTS
"ADVENTURES IN GARDENING", a seminar for every gardener
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 11, 8:30-3:30
HENDRICKS CO. FAIRGROUNDS AUDITORIUM, DANVILLE, IN.

For more information and map see www.hendricksgardeners.com. or call 317-745-9260

Our featured speaker is C. Colston (Cole) Burrell, internationally known gardener, author and lecturer from Virginia. He lived in Wisconsin for many years so he is also very familiar with our colder weather situations. Cole has written or edited over 25 books and will be speaking to us about landscaping. Many of you have met him at the Horticulture Magazine seminars sponsored by the IMA. Cole is an enthusiastic and engaging speaker, sharing his passion for gardening. Check out his latest books, "Hellebores: A Comprehensive Guide" and "Native Alternatives to Invasive Plants". We are thrilled to have such a prominent figure in the horticulture world and know you won't want to miss hearing him speak.

Also speaking will be Hilary Cox, horticulturist, garden designer and speaker. Hilary is a charter member of INPAWS and loves to rescue plants from building sites where they would otherwise be destroyed. She is on the Indiana State committee to identify and list invasive plants and is also involved in collecting native plant seeds to be preserved for eternity. Hilary uses mostly natives in her designs and is an organic gardener. She will be speaking on "Organic Gardening plus Native Plants: Ornamental and Functional".

Fred Whitford, from Purdue University is the coordinator of Purdue Pesticide Programs and will be talking about the proper use of pesticides in the environment. He has written four books and over 200 research papers and documents, and has delivered over 3000 presentations. His latest book is "Virginia Claypool Meredith: Queen of American Agriculture". Fred is an energetic speaker and makes the topic of pesticides very interesting with his interactive presentation.

Garden Club of Indiana's own past president, Ruth Moorhead and her husband, Phil, are going to be telling us all about gourds, how to grow them and what to do with them. Ruth is a very active lady in many plant societies and is presently the Landscape Design School Chairman and is serving on the National and Central Region Boards. She is Master Flower Show Judge, won the Honeywell award in 1995, and held many offices at every level of National Garden Club. Ruth has done numerous presentations for many organizations and as many know, is a very entertaining and knowledgeable speaker.

Register now for only $39.00, includes continental breakfast and lunch.

REGISTRATION FORM: ADVENTURES IN GARDENING

Make checks payable to: Hendricks County Master Gardeners Association

NAME _____ ADDRESS _____
CITY, STATE _____ ZIP CODE _____ COUNTY _____
PHONE _____ EMAIL _____

Mail to Hendricks Co. Extension Office, P.O. Box 7, 1900 E. Main St., Danville, IN 46122

If you have disability or special needs requirements, contact Janet Cunningham at 317-745-9260. Purdue Cooperative Extension Services Hendricks County. An affirmative action/equal opportunity institution.